THE resolution of the Shan that ratepayers to establish a cromatorium in the Mode Settlement may excite some little interest in the subject here. Forty-seven voted for the resolution and thirty-two against, which may probably be taken as indicative of the relative strength of the cremation and anticremation parties not only in Shanghai but in which ignorant prejudice and foolish senti mentaresubordinated to sound common sense. nents of cremation as ignorant, prejudiced, gratulated on having decided to make a or foolishly sentimental, but theirs is by the nature of the case the side which ignorance. prejudice, and sentiment founded on custom support. Burial has always been the mode of disposing of the dead amongst Christian nations and the mass of the people believe it to be the correct way, although not one in a thousand would be able to formulate any grounds for their belief, and few will under take an independent inquiry as to why an old custom should be altered. In communities such as those of the Far East, however consisting for the most part of specially selected men of intelligence and elucation. public opinion is more advanced, and whereas in England the number of ratepavers who would actively favour cremation would be crematorium should be provided. Have the natives, may, I ask, taken kindly, and at once, to any of the Western ideas-telegraphs, railways, roads, carriages, etc.? No. but they are rapidly seeing the advantages of them, and as soon as they are convinced of the practicability and economy of cremation, he would be a bold man who would say they would not take to that also. Think of the vast sums of money spent on haid for graves, to say nothing of the waste of that land, and on the passage of coffins from place to place, that would be saved And when the country comes to be opened up, and railways and roads constructed, do you think Government will treat the grave mounds, and their contents, with which the country is strewn, with the same respect and consideration that purchasers of land here have been accustomed to do? Cortainly not, and when they see the same thing happen here that has happened in hundreds of instances in our little island, graves desecrated and ancestral remains dumped into the most convenient and handy spot, or else rudely burnt, they will appreciate the advantages of cremation as well as any one else. China is still slumbering, but she is now being roughly shaken and will soon awake. It is for that awakening we must be prepared, and it is the rising generation we must aim at edue ting with object lessons, and the sooner those of practical utility are introduced the better. We wish we could share Mr. NoEL's views as to the rapid advance of the Chinese, but unfortunately the people generally are opposed to improvements of all kinds, and At the Mount Austin Hotel, on 18th March, the their views on the particular question of the diaposal of the don't as a security of few foreigners at Shanghai adopting the principle of cremation. Those who voted in favour of the resolution must be presumed to have done so simply as a matter of principle, because they believe cremation to be the best mode of disposing of the dead and that facilities should be afforded for those who wish to adopt that system. The immediate practical effect on the health of the community will of course be infinitesimal, for the probable number of cremations annually has been placed at thirteen only, but even if it were very much larger it would still be other similarly constituted communities in small as compared with the large number of burials that will continue to take place. But all reforms must have a beginning and Not that we wish to stigmatise all the oppo- the Shanghai ratepayers are to be concommencement in the matter of reforming the system of disposing of the dead. As to the practical question of the cost, the promoters of the movement seem to have been working in the dark, figures ranging from £800 to £2,000 having been mentioned. Even the larger sum, we should say, will be insufficient to meet, the initial expense, which it would be safer to place at Tls. 80,000 to Tls. 50,000, while the annual cost of working and upkeep will probably not fall far short of Tls. 2,000. THE SANITARY BALLD BY-LAWS.

The ACTING COLONIAL BECRETARY—I have the honour to move the approval of certain by. laws made by the Sanitary Board under Section 113 of Ordinance 15 of 1894. It will be remembered that at the last meeting of the Council, at the request of the unofficial member opposite (Hou. J. J. Kerwick), the consideration of the question of approval of the by-laws was postsoned. Since that meeting cartain amendments have been suggested by the unofficial members with regard to by-laws Nos. 3 4, 5, 18, 19, 20, 22, 27 33. The amendments suggested by the nuclficial members were referred to the Sanitary Board for The Peking correspondent of the Mercury its consideration, and a letter has been received to day from the Sanitary Board transmitting the period only, other size the restrictions on the sale with the exception of by-law 31-that is by-law 33 of the original by-laws, and $1 in the by-laws Reliable prit 'ate advices from Hiroshima in- as last sent up by the Smitary Board. Hon. C. P. CHATER-I beg to say that the altered by laws were received by me only during inneheen to day, and on carefully going through them I observed the clause to which the hon, the Acting Colonial Secretary has spoken, namely, clause 81. There is very little difference between what the Sanitary Board wants and what we, the unofficial members, would like to have; therefore I would ask your Excellency, as it is pregent that the by-laws should be passed that they be p seed with the exception of by-law 31. which might be referred to the Board for further consideration.

HIS EXCELLENCY—The question is that clause 31 be referred back to the Sanitary Board, and I ask the Council to approve of the others. The HARBOUR MASTER -The second subsection of section 2 states that "the material to be used for covering the floors and yards . situated on any upper floor." I do not know whether that is a mistake. The Acting Colonial Secretary-I beg to second the motion Carried nem. con. The ACTING ATTORNEY-GENERAL -I have to move the first reading of an Ordinance to regulate the issue of bank notes in the colony. The object of the Ordinance is to prevent any bank from making, issuing, or circulating any bank notes without the sanction of one of Her Ma chief provisions, the rights of banks possessed under Royal Charter or Colonial Ordinance for all Chine ponies bons fide griffics at the I The Ordinance, as I have remarked before date of entry; weights as per anale. I think, by the Bank Charter Act of 1844. But although the Royal Instructions to this colony and the Colonial Regulations point very clearly to the prohibition of the issue of bank notes without the pravious sanction of the Secretary of State or without a Charter or Ordinance having been obtained bitherto there has been no statute law or ensetment prohibiting the issue of bank notes in this colony. That fact was brought to the attention of the Secretary of State, and has accordingly directed that this Ordinano I be passed. The Ordinance briefly provides passing of this Ordinance or from such day as I may be put in the Ordinance-no bank is to make issue or circulate bank notes payable to hearer on demand without the sanction one of Her Majesty's principal Secretaries of State. The Ordinance does not affect bank notes which are in circulation on that day. That will be filled in in Committee as this day, 20th March I There is also a provision in the Ordinance on Inbling the Colonial Pressurer to require banks bank notes in issue or circulation on 20th March this year in order that notes issued afterwards may be identified from notes issued brior to the passing of this Ordinance. I application and Mr. Lesch QC (ASSER A. G.) appearing to appose it. I lutimated my opinion that the claim for interest could not be supported and Mr. Francis having agroud to abandon that item of claim, all that remains is to dispose of the claim for rent. The summons as repards that matter asks that the certificate may be reviewed or altered in the following respect:-" By finding that the defends t has sustained forer and above the loss and damage cartified and allowed by the Acting Registrar I as and dam-1,134:15 age by reason of the stoppage of the building 60,969.05 inperations from the said 14 h day of October. 1892, to the said 2 th day of Avgust, 1803, and was kept out of the rents and profits thereof for the said period and ought to be allowed compensation on the basis of the letting value of the | said buildings "-and asks for an order referring the said certificate back to the Acting Registrar to take further syldence (if necessary) and assess the damages on the above finding. The case of Smith v. Day, L.R. 21, Cb. D. p 421, was cited by counsel on both sid s. That case decided that when the defendant alleged he lost the benefit of an advantageous, special agreement to take part of his premises at. a high rental for 7 years owing to an interim injunction which prevented their completion for some months, he could not recover that medial loss as damages, even if he could prove it. because such a loss is too remote. It is not one which is the proximate and natural result of the interim of Victoria was laid before the Legislative injunction and no notice of the existence of the special agreement had been given to the plainfiff in the action. As Brett. L. J., put it (page 428) The fact that the injunction prevented the carrying out of an entirely independent agreement as to the property is the remote." The question whether, where no such special loss is claimed a chain for loss of the value of the expectation of ordinary rent from ordinary tenants ought to be admitted was not decided. Indeed as in that case there were special circumstances, such as nudue delay, which prevonted the Vourt from granting any inquiry at all, only the one item, the special damage, cam in question for decision. I am number and date of the licence presented in plans prepared, and other information collected, not aware of any express decision upon this point. This was, of course, a work of some mag- ing deprived of the chance of chtaining ordinary reasonable rent from the date when but for such issued under the Pence Preservation Ordinance the appointment of the Board of Arbitration, a injunction the houses would have been finished ready for letting, and for so long as such completion was delayed solely by that wrongful inprinciple and analogy. Admitting that as stated in Keer on Injunctions, 3rd act p. 639, "The damages must be confined to the loss which is the national consequence of the injunction, unlongoil. I do not think I need detain the bouses, the total area of private property to- der the circumstances of which the party obtaining the injunction had notion," the question arises: - Was not the natural consequence" of pocoment of the chance of letting? The houses In Smith v. Day, Brett, L. J., says (p. 428):-"If anyone obtains an injunction preventing building contract." If so, must not Mr. Belilios be taken to bave had notice that the defendant stipulated under penalties of $10 a day for completion on 11th November, 1892, or, in other words, must not Mr. Belilios be taken to have notice. that the defendant attached much importance to the early completion of the buildings. What is the "natural consequence" of preventing that early completion but less to the owner either of use and occupation or of the chance of obtaining a reasonable rent. In this case it was not suggested the owner intended to live in the premises himself, so the question is narrowed down to this-was not the "untural consequence" of the delay caused by the injunction loss to the owner of the value of the expectation of reasonable rent during the period of such euforced delay? In the case of In re Trent

HOUSEHOLDER, Hongkoug, 20th March, 1895.

THE CASE OF BILL v. GOMES: TO THE EDITOR OF THE "DAILY PRESS." Sin .- There is an inaccurracy in your report of the case of Hill v. Gomes published in your igane of this morning. His Honour the Acting Phisne Judge did not, as reported by you, make use of the word "ridiculous" in reference to the orgument of Mr. Wilkinson. What Mr. Justice Wise did say in his judgment was as follows :-"I may say, Mr. Wilkinson, with all due deference to you, that I have not been impressed with the force of your argument; I mean, of course, from a legal point of view."-Yours faithfully. JOH V HASTINGS.

HOW THE "ESMERALDA" WAS PURCHASED.

Mails from Ecuador ditate that Fint & Co. early in last December learned the Chilian Government wished to sell its crack warship Emeralda. The prior asked was £220,000; Flint & Co. seenred a refusal of the vessel and Conton then sent an agent to Japan to see what sort of Hougkong....... a deal could be made. The Japanese Government agreed to pay Gap Book.

NEW YORK, 41h February.

£330,000 for the warship, but when Chili learned that Flint & Co. proposed to send the Esmerolda Baiphong to Japan they refused to sell her on the ground Bolingo that it would be a violation of the nentrality The agent of Flint & Co did not give up, however. He went to Equador and made secret deal with President Cordero and the political ring of which he is a member. Prominent among the ringsters are the Command brothers, the elder of whom in an ex-President and leader of the ring. Flint's agent arranged that Econdor should have the Esmeralda from Chili and turn her ever to him to sell to Japan. Ex-President Caamano was to receive half of the £80,000 profit. The deal was arranged early in December and Cammano telegraphed to the Consol from Equador resident in Valparaiso to buy the warship. The vessel was turned over to the representatives of Ecuador. The Chilian flag was hanted down and the flag of Ecuador raised in its stead. The verse was taken to Galapages islands, off the coast of Ecuador, and there the flag of Japan was hoisted in place of the colours of Ecuador and

It was two weeks before the deal became generally known, but then there was a general aprising of the people. There was a great outory against the Caamano brothers and they fled. China is quite likely to make Equador-
